Prevent Crime in the Winter

Burglaries can occur at any time of the day, but because the daylight hours are shorter during winter, vandals will take advantage of longer hours of darkness. Home or business owners should be extra vigilant during this time.

In order to prevent a burglary from occurring at your home or business during the winter, there are several steps that can be taken:

First, it is important to think like a burglar and look for features on your property that offer opportunities to an intruder.

For example, an unplowed driveway may be a sign to burglars that your property is unoccupied. It is recommended that you arrange for your driveway to be plowed regularly, especially if you are absent for extended periods of time.

In addition, make sure to keep your garage door closed and have doors and windows locked.

Next, ensure that all potential entry points on your property are well lit in the dark winter evenings. This includes doors and windows on all levels of a home. Having lighting around an exterior's structure allows for increased visibility to spot suspicious activity.

Another bright idea is to use automatic light timers throughout a home or business. Having this type of lighting turn on and off in a way that simulates your normal patterns will create the illusion of movement from room to room, even if you are not there.

Overall, your home or business's security system is the best form of protection, but keeping these tips in mind will be especially useful in the winter months.
